The following statistics regarding the Cytokines 2017 & 2018 Meetings are not representative of the expected demographic split for the Cytokines 2019, as it will be held in Vienna, so in Europe. We indeed expect a much higher representation of the European Countries, which should be as follows:

Total number of participant: 800

For reference, last time the meeting was held in Europe, Europe was represented at 56% of the total attendance and Asia at 17%, for 20% for North America.
